Friday evening lecture
7-9 pm

(Registration begins at 6:30 pm)

What are the sources of guidance for a thoughtful person in our country amid political fractionation, animosity, divisive ideologies, and numbing distractions – a time in which the individual has an enormous summons to social, psychological and spiritual integrity?

This presentation will challenge the audience to assume responsibility for a thoughtful, discerned and experientially verified authority, one which bases itself on respect for others, but also embodies a willingness to show up, to be different, to stand for something real.

Saturday workshop:

9:30 am – 3:30 pm

(Registration begins at 9:00 am)

The participant is invited to bring a notebook and pen for personal reflection, for consistent with the task outlined in the lecture on Friday evening, you will be challenged to discern your own values, be accountable for them, and summoned to the courage to live them.

Lunch on your own.

The Jung Association of Central Ohio is delighted to welcome Dr. Hollis back as one of our most engaging and popular presenters.
