

The C. G. Jung Association of Central Ohio (JACO) presents

Jung and Mysticism

Saturday, December 10, 2011 10 am to Noon
First Community Church, North Campus
3777 Dublin Road, Columbus, OH ~ 43221

Throughout his works Jung speaks scientifically of the subjective psyche, gathered from his life experience of images and emotions. He also spoke of the objective psyche, the collective unconscious communicating with the individual. In his later years he was asked if he believed in God. He said "I do not believe in God, I know." This is the path of gnosis and the mystic. Was Jung a mystic? Are you?

Our presenter, Leigh Randolph, is an endodontist, craniosacral practitioner, and astrologer. A strong supporter of the Jung Association, along with her husband John, Leigh is a member of the JACO Board of Trustees. Her presentations are always well-drawn and illuminating and very well received.
